

Rainbow Child International's WORLDWISE PROGRAMS

...Japanese Viewing Party... Games from Russia ... African Mantis Stories... Israeli Solar Power Experiment ... Iroquois Snake Dance...

Worldwise Programs invite you and your class to experience how others live, see, feel, move, think, learn and celebrate. The wisdom of the ancestors is brought to life as we discover the thread that unites us all.

Performances allow the audience to travel around the world with dramatic storytelling and selected songs to guide them. Hear the tales Iroquois or Japanese mothers told their children to teach kindness. Hand-play a poem from India about nature and responsibility for the earth or sing a Hawaiian song about life in harmony. A Worldwide performance is a timely and timeless weaving of present and past with audience participation, music and movement.

Workshops are structured to meet your needs. Sandy can spend a day or week with students exploring the crafts, stories, dance, games and clothing of one or more cultures. Program components enrich and support cross-cultural learning. Role-playing Seneca clan animals and handling artifacts and skins teaches the natural history of the Seneca people. In a Chinese unit, kids find it relaxing to do the eye exercises Chinese children do daily. And the Tanabata Star Festival is an exciting culminating activity in the study of Japanese culture. Workshops in Asian, African, Middle Eastern, Native American, Latin American and Eastern European cultures are available. For dance choose from the following:

ABOUT SANDY TAYLOR

Sandy teaches about nature and culture through interactive discovery. Her programs are designed to help participants become more aware of their own possibilities and potentials and the importance of working cooperatively to save the environment.

For over twenty years, Sandy has been a student of philosophy, psychology and cultural practices. She now combines these with storytelling, song and dance in a celebration that uplifts and inspires the human spirit.

Sandy has brought her performances and workshops to a variety of locations -- including the University of Pennsylvania Museum, Temple University's Multicultural Training and Research Institute, schools, libraries, camps scouts, community centers, churches and theaters -- and is now becoming internationally known.

Sandy is on the roster of the World Affairs Council's school programs.

COMMENTS

"Ms. Taylor is a remarkable artist whose commitment to education will no doubt make a significant contribution to any organization. Her ability to work with diverse groups of students of all ages on many topics is a true test of her professionalism. She has my highest recommendation."
